MTH150 Course Policies[1] Fall 2019

Professor Fine
LARTS-396E
910-6905
dfine@umassd.edu

How to get the grade you want:

A Clearly understand the ideas, and almost always get the answer.

B Understand the main ideas, and usually get the answer.

C Understand some of the main ideas, and often get the answer.

D Vaguely understand some of the main ideas, and sometimes get the answer.

F None of the above.

How I tell:

65% Hour exams

15% Quizzes (10% in class, 5% online)

10% Class participation (see below)

10% Online homework

Class participation: You are expected to actively engage in constructive discussion in class.

Attendance is not part of your grade, except in so far as it affects your participation. As a rule, I do not take attendance. If you miss a class, please consult a classmate to learn what material to study independently.

Late homework will not be accepted.

I will give you a make-up exam only if I judge your absence to be for a good reason. Where appropriate, I will expect documentation. Make-up exams may be oral exams. If you know in advance that you must miss an exam, please let me know in advance.

There is no opportunity to make up an in-class quiz.

[1]These are the policies specific to this course. For general university policies on topics including academic integrity, per-credit workload, and the location of tutoring services, please read the following comprehensive description: https://www.umassd.edu/provost/resourcesforfaculty/syllabus-language/