

MTH182
Professor Fine
LARTS-396E, 910-6905
dfine@umassd.edu

Course Policies <sup>1</sup>

Spring 2022

How to get the grade you want:

- A Clearly understand the ideas, and almost always get the answer.
- B Understand the main ideas, and usually get the answer.
- C Understand some of the main ideas, and often get the answer.
- D Vaguely understand some of the main ideas, and sometimes get the answer.
- F None of the above.

How I tell: <sup>2</sup>

15% Homework

25% Class participation (see below)

60% Hour exams

The fine print:

Participation People who actively engage in discussion in class or during office hours will earn special consideration when I assign course grades. When appropriate, I will also choose students at random to answer specific questions.

Make-ups

- I will give you a make-up exam only if I judge your absence to be due to good cause. Where appropriate, I will expect documentation. Make-up exams may be oral exams. If you know in advance that you must miss an exam, please let me know in advance.
- Late homework will not be accepted.

Attendance You are responsible for everything covered in class. If you cannot attend a given session, please check with a classmate who was there to find out exactly what you missed. I suggest making an explicit arrangement for this and exchanging contact information now.

---

<sup>1</sup>These are the policies specific to this course. For general university policies on topics including academic integrity, per-credit workload, and the location of tutoring services, please visit <https://www.umassd.edu/provost/resourcesforfaculty/syllabus-language/>

<sup>2</sup>Should circumstances force class to stop meeting face-to-face, some weight will shift from exams to participation.